

ADMIRALTY UNIFORM AND CLOTHING COMMITTEE.Royal Marines Dress ProposalsItem No. 15. Gold Badges for Sergeants and above.

Arising from the minutes of the 218th meeting, held on 27th January, 1954, C.G.R.M. has investigated the origin of the Colour Sergeants' badge and has produced the following extract from "Britain's Sea Soldiers", Volume II:-

"1814. Company Sergeants granted a special badge and 6d. a day in consideration of the meritorious and exemplary conduct of N.C.O.'s R.M."

A copy of the Admiralty Letter promulgating the introduction of the badge is given in Appendix A.

Item No. 16. Specialist Qualification etc. Badges.

Requirements of specialist qualification etc. badges for wear by Royal Marines have now been reviewed by C.G.R.M. and a comprehensive list of the badges required is shown in Appendix B.

2. According to the Uniform Regulations the badges to be provided for R.M. personnel with Gunnery and P.T. qualifications should be of the same design as those provided for R.N. ratings with similar qualifications and requirements of red badges for wear on blue uniforms by these ranks are currently provided from existing stocks of R.N. badges. It will be necessary, however, to provide additional patterns of these badges in most instances for wear on khaki uniforms and to re-categorise some of the patterns of khaki badges of which stocks are now held.

3. It is noted that the same design of badge is required for both Drill and Platoon Weapons personnel due to the fact that these ranks were originally included in the same category. Although it is understood from C.G.R.M. that this is not likely to lead to confusion in practice it is for consideration whether a distinguishing letter might be added to these badges to avoid any possible confusion with the marksmanship badge, which is also of the same design.

4. The badges included in the revised schedule are all of existing patterns, with the exception of those consisting of a laurel wreath with distinguishing letters. These badges are similar to the current Army Tradesmen's badges, a sample of which will be available for inspection at the meeting. Further samples incorporating (a) scroll letters and (b) block letters are being made up. No difficulties are anticipated with regard to the manufacture of badges incorporating either type of lettering.

5. The choice of the letter K as the distinguishing letter in the badge to be provided for Cooks is due to the fact that the letter C is required for Clerks. It is for consideration whether a more appropriate letter or device might be provided for one or other of these categories.
